

The Images of America book, San Ramon Valley: Alamo, Danville, San Ramon, which features photographs of places and times in our Valley history, has gone into its fourth printing, according to Arcadia publishing representatives. 4000 books have now been printed.

At the Museum Store signed copies of the book by Beverly Lane and Ralph Cozine are always available. Photographs from the book (and the Museum archives) are also seen each week in the Danville Weekly and Danville Times.

Not only does the Museum receive royalties from this book, but one part of the Museum's mission is to educate about our Valley history. These photographs of our shared past help do just that!

Danville Sesquicentennial Book in the Works

In anticipation of Danville's 150th anniversary in 2008, a committee is working on a new book which is being underwritten by the Town of Danville. It will include history articles and photographs or images that convey the story of Danville from when the Town was named in 1858 to the present. Beverly Lane is coordinating the project. Committee members include Beverly, Ralph Cozine, Vic Georgiou, Laura Grinstead and Doug Aitken. Interested in helping? Contact any of the committee members immediately!

Do you have any great stories about people and events that have taken place in the Valley that you wish to share for the book? Please contact Beverly at beverlywl@aol.com, 837-7715.

Do you have any historic or more recent photographs that visually capture and communicate the character of the community at the time the photograph was taken? Please drop off pictures at the Town Offices at 510 La Gonda Way during regular office hours, Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. – 5:00 p.m. All originals will be returned after review (and reproduction if the image is to be used). Donors will be credited in the book.

STORE SUGGESTIONS, PLEASE!

For those of you who occasionally stop by the Museum Shop, the Store Committee is asking for your help!

We would love to have your input on what merchandise we might add to our inventory...whether for family purchases or for gifts. Do you know of any web sites we might find useful or catalogues we should order?

Although we have limited storage space, we want to sell those items you want to buy. When you have a moment, send your ideas to the store committee at: cseberhardt@comcast.net

Also, please let your friends and neighbors who have third graders who will be visiting the One Room Schoolhouse next year know that we have a lovely selection of sun bonnets for sale.

Have a Happy Summer! We look forward to seeing you at the many activities and exhibits planned for the coming months.
